- Attend monthly staff meetings and training sessions as assigned.
- Ability to receive feedback, act and adjust accordingly during and after performance evaluations.

Working Conditions:

AEMTs work both indoors and outdoors, in all types of weather. Their work is physically strenuous and can be stressful, sometimes involving life-or-death situations.

Work involves intermittent to occasional exposure to unpleasant working conditions or undesirable elements. An occasional potential for cuts, bruises, muscle strains and exposure to blood borne pathogens, and contagious diseases; may be exposed to hazardous materials. Sometimes they can be injured by combative patients. These risks can be reduced by following proper safety procedures, such as waiting for police to clear an area in violent situations or wearing gloves while working with a patient. This position requires day, night, and weekend work.

Physical Requirements:

Work requires some physical effort. Lifting or performing work requiring physical exertion (up to 175 pounds) is intermittent (not a routine part of the job). The job requires sitting for periods of time, with an occasional need to stoop, kneel or crouch; occasional need to work in confined spaces and unusual positions to perform the task of emergency care and rescue.
